

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to FORCE their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a misuse of the public airwaves. The timing of the airing of this program indicates that it is a tool of the Bush administration hoping to sway voters against John Kerry. This is not democracy.

If Sinclair persists in the desire to air this anti-Kerry program then they should be forced to air "Going Upriver" the next night on all of those same stations to give a more balanced perspective. Otherwise we will know that corporations truly do own our media.

Sincerely,

Amy Todisco